REPLANT TREES TO HONOR DEAD RESULT OF WAR

(Special to The Argus.)

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 28.—For every man who died in the service the University of Illinois has a gold star tree. These trees were planted last spring.

To date, 26 trees have died and 11 have been replanted. The other 15 are ordered and expected at any time. Last spring 173 trees were planted around the drill ground south of the armory to commemorate the Illinois men and women who gave their lives in the service of their country during the war. The students raised the money necessary to purchase the trees and more than $400 additional to provide for their future care and upkeep.

Last month it was noticed that several of the trees were missing. Closer investigation showed that a number of brass name plates were also gone. Later it was learned that the shields were not actually lost, as they had been taken off the trees as they died and stored away. These will be cemented to the trees as they are replanted.

The 26 trees that were ordered consist of oaks, elms, maples, and four maples.
